

The Assembly

A gathering of what inspires and challenges us.

The latest stories. In your inbox. Every two months.

In this issue:

- Want your child to be empathetic? Take him to the library...
- There's one lottery that isn't exactly a matter of chance--the school lottery
- Coming soon to Indianapolis: the largest urban farm in the state

Articles/Podcasts on:  True Education  Real Diversity  Urban Renewal
 Christ-Centered  Oaks in the News

More Equal Than Others | The Atlantic

In school choice lotteries, the odds are stacked against some families.

The Old Making New | The Gospel Coalition

By bringing back ancient teaching methods, this classical Christian school is solving the problems plaguing modern education.

Selling Integration | This American Life

Reintegration is a primary focus of this school, but it's not a primary focus of recruiters' conversations with white families.

Farming in the Desert | The Indy Star

Indy's historical Flanner house is teaming up with a local farmer to bring fresh produce to one of the city's biggest food deserts.

The Segregation Cycle | NPR

We know that residential segregation causes segregation in schools, but new evidence suggests that school segregation actually perpetuates residential segregation.

 Becoming Human 101 | Education Week

While most schools prepare students to make a living, one teacher urges schools to prepare students to actually live.

 Lean-on-Green Indy Machine | Indianapolis Business Journal

Research finds that Indy is lagging behind on several economic indicators, but a few non-profits are joining forces to bring struggling neighborhoods back.

 Reading Books, Reading People | The Wall Street Journal

A new study finds that reading fiction improves more than just vocabulary.

Was this shared with you? Become a subscriber.

Want to see more great articles?

Follow our #FacultyFebruary series on LinkedIn.

Special note: Due to success and growth, we are hiring several new faculty positions. Please apply, or share this site with the educators in your life.

Share your thoughts about these articles, and join the conversation on our social media channels.

 To read the latest on The Oaks in the news, visit www.theoaksacademy.org/news.